Vikings Open at Harrison

PHOTO shows large portion of group as they prepare three hundred hot dogs, six hundred bottles of pop and amounts of potato salad, baked beans and potato

The Grayling High Vikings will get their 1967 season underway this Friday evening when they will journey to Harrison.

The Vikings will be looking for revenge in this non-league encounter with the Hornets as they were defeated last year 14 to 6.

Head coach, Mike Wieland said the probable starters on offense for Friday night's clash would be: David Bailey, Paul King, Allen Lowe and Mike Smock on Warren Hayes in the backfield. At the end posts Larry Beery and Doug Wilson tackle, Paul Mauren and Bill Kraus, guards John Hupner and Steve LaGrow and at center either Dave LaGuire or Dave McClain.

Coach Wieland also stated he wasn't too happy with the showing of the Vikings in the practice game with Roscommon last Friday, there could be quite a few changes made during this week's practice sessions.

Those expected to see most of the action on the defensive team will be at ends Rick Holmes, and Bill LaMotte, at tackles Chauncey Carr and Paul Mauren and guard John Hunter. Linebackers Paul King, Mike Smock and Bill Kraus with Dave Bailey, Allen Lowe and Tony Ellison in the secondary.

Direct Distance Dialing For Grayling Sunday, September 17

General Telephone customers in the communities of Grayling, Higgins Lake, Houghton Lake, Frudenville, and Roscommon will no longer have to place long distance calls through an operator beginning Sunday, September 17, A. R. Murphy, Roscommon district manager for the company, has announced.

"Beginning at 2:01 a.m. Sunday, our customers in these five communities will become a part of the nationwide Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) network," Murphy said. "They will be able to dial directly to over 60 million of the country's 100 million telephones."

Murphy listed three steps to placing a DDD call:

1. Dial "10", the access code. This will connect you with the nationwide DDD network.

2. Dial the area code if the call is being placed to a telephone located outside of your "home area." (These five communities are all in the 517 "home area").

3. Dial the directory listed number of the party you are calling. A DDD operator will ask for your telephone number. Be sure to give your number seven-digit telephone number.

"Complete DDD instructions, including a nationwide area code map and individual city listings, can be found in the first few pages of your new telephone directory," the manager said.

Credit card, person to person, and pay station calls must still be placed with an operator he pointed out.

County Schools Show Gain To 1,376 Pupils

Crawford A u s a b l e District schools opened this fall with a record enrollment of 1,376 students, an increase of 85 pupils over last year.

This breaks down into an increase of 4 students at the Fredrick Elementary School, an increase of 47 at the Grayling Elementary, and of 34 in the Grayling High School.

Superintendent of Schools Joseph Stripe reports that the system is still short one 6th grade teacher and one girls' physical education teacher.

Mrs. Erma Johnson is substituting in the 6th grade, and Mrs. Don Ferguson is helping in checking out at the girls locker rooms. The girls' phys. ed classes are being handled by the boys' phys. ed instructor for the present.

Bowling Notice

Attention National League Bowlers (Thursday nights). League starting time has been changed from 7 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. This is a new Association rule, not just mutual agreement.

Second division will bowl first shift. It is imperative that all teams be on the lanes ready to start at 6:45.

Woman's Club

A large number of members, honorary members and guests attended the Woman's Club meeting Monday night.

The attraction was a program presented by Matilda Bishop, of slides and narrative concerning her recent Mediterranean cruise. Members were aware of Mrs. Bishop's professional handling of such a program and enjoyed it as much as they expected to. Because the countries she visited are so much in the spotlight at this time, her comments were doubly interesting.

A business meeting presided over by Sal Truettner, president preceded the program.

A full schedule for members was outlined, starting with a dinner for the Kiwanis and their wives on September 25, a rummage sale on September 29 and a Block of Dimes project early in October.

Mrs. Truettner announced the State Convention to be held October 2nd, and asked all members who plan to attend to contact her before September 23.

At the regular meeting October 9th, members are requested to meet at 7 p.m. for a short business meeting, after which members are invited to attend a food demonstration at Consumers Power. Transportation will be arranged at the Clubhouse.

Mrs. Hyne and Mrs. Nolan, hostesses of the month, served coffee, orange sherbet and crackers.

School Night For Scouting Sept. 21

Boy Scouts and Scout leaders in the Paul Bunyan Council which includes Crawford County and six adjoining counties, will join with councils all across the nation on September 21 in a "School Night for Scouting" program.

On that night, a brief program is planned at nearly every elementary school affording boys an opportunity to sign up as Cub Scouts or Boy Scouts. Scouts will wear their uniforms that day and demonstrations of skills learned in Scouting are planned as part of the program. Local radio stations will also carry a brief message which will be aired at each of the schools.

School Night for Scouting is the official kick-off for the 1967 Fall Roundup during which time a concentrated effort is made to make Scouting available to every interested, potential Scout. Chairman for the Paul Bunyan Council Fall Roundup this year is Dr. Kenneth J. Olson, Midland. Chairman for Grayling is Frank Carey.

The National theme for the Fall Roundup this year, said Henry, is "Scouting Rounds a Guy Out." Scouting gives boys confidence, teaches them teamwork, makes them tough, gives them self-respect, widens their world, and teaches them reverence.

On School Night for Scouting, Olson said the Paul Bunyan Council is hoping to register more than 1,000 boys. The unified school program being planned by the Paul Bunyan, Tall Pine, Saginaw Bay and Seenic Trails Councils with widespread, simultaneous publicity by every available media, is expected to enable Scouts to be more effective in reaching Scout-age boys.

Most of the School Night programs will include pre-opening activities, lively music, information on the Scouting program, literature, short demonstrations and facilities for processing applications. Programs are expected to be over by 8:30 p.m.

Chamber Dinner Set For Sept. 21st

Fred A. Kaiser

The Annual Dinner of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce is to take place Thursday, September 21, at the Chief Shoppenagons Motor Hotel. This annual event is being co-chaired this year by Mrs. James Forbes and Mrs. Walter Truettner.

The tickets are $3.50 per person, and are being distributed by the Chamber to all members. Because of limited facilities the dinner is on a reservation only basis, and all reservations must be in the Chamber office by Tuesday, September 19.

Fred A. Kaiser will deliver the keynote address at the Annual Dinner, and his topic will be "The Human Side of Marketing" and will be devoted to the need of greater human involvement in the distribution of goods and services.

Fred A. Kaiser was born in the City of Detroit and like most native Detroiters, his early interest and early work was in the automotive industry. He pioneered the sale of motor trucks for the logging operations in the Pacific northwest and later became associated with the Hudson Motor Car Company.

In 1931, he entered the appliance field as a sales representative of the Detroit Michigan Stove Company. He rose rapidly in this organization to become the President and a Director of this Company. After he merged this company with an eastern manufacturer, he resigned to become Vice President of Sales of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company on August 1, 1955. On June 1, 1963, he retired as Vice President and is now Marketing Consultant for the Company.

He is very active in the affairs of the American Gas Association, Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association and Institute of Appliance Manufacturers. He is one of the founders and past President of the Detroit Sales-Marketing Executives Club, which he served for eight years as a director and at present is a member of its Advisory Council. He was twice named as Chairman of Junior Achievement Week in southern Michigan.

Kaiser is at present a member of the Board of Directors at Grace Hospital in Detroit, a former President and Director of the Detroit Golf Club, a past Director of the Detroit Athletic Club, a Director of the Michigan United Fund, Michigan Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Detroit Cerebral Palsy Center, and the Boys' Committee of Detroit. He is active in the Michigan Foundation, Inc., and the United Foundation of Detroit. He is President of the Detroit Port Development Corporation, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee for Industrial and Commercial Development Committee of Detroit, a member of the Newcomer Society in North America and a life member of the American Ordinance Association.

He is a firm believer in personal salesmanship. "Only through better selling can production continue to expand," states Kaiser. He is much sought after as a speaker and has spoken before various clubs, associations and other organizations in every state of the union and in Canada.

Local Soil Conservation District Will Receive USDA Help

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has signed a working agreement with the Crawford-Roscommon Soil Conservation District in Michigan authorizing USDA help for soil and water resource work in Crawford and Roscommon Counties.

Directors, headquartered in Roscommon, are Houghton King, Jr., Houghton Lake, Chairman; Stanley S. Hummel, Frederic, Vice-Chairman; Leroy Wahl, St. Helen, Treasurer; Kenneth Carter, St. Helen; and Andie Neilson, Roscommon.

Nearly two-thirds of the land in the 693,760 acre district is publicly owned.

District leaders recognize a need for proper land use and orderly development of forest, lakes, and streams for recreational use.

Secretary Freeman said local conservation districts enable local people to initiate projects and carry out long range programs that help build a resource base required to support an expanding national economy. The new district will receive technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service and help from other USDA agencies to conserve and develop soil, water, plant, and related resources. Services, facilities, and funds will also be available from other Federal, State, local, and private sources.

Bertl has employed Vaughn Sherman of Houghton Lake to manage the station, which will be known as Vaughn's Mobil Service under the new ownership. Sherman expects to move his family to Grayling. Roscommon Gas and Oil services about 14 stations in the northern area, but this is its first Grayling operation.

The station was opened many years ago by Frank Ahman. It was later operated by Floyd Cole, who began managing Pop Cole's Mobil Service in about 1944. Floyd retired a few years back and Mrs. Houghton then ran the station under the name of AuSable Mobil Service. Mrs. Houghton and son Bob are enjoying a couple weeks on vacation in the east and so were unavailable for further information as to her plans for the future.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association

Fewer Deaths

Unless Labor Day drastically altered the picture, Michigan motorists have an impressive traffic record for 1967.

Michigan traffic deaths on holidays, weekends and during the week have dropped sharply from last year's levels while they remained unchanged nationwide says the Automobile Club of Michigan.

In its continuing study of traffic mishaps, AAA reported that during the first six months of this year, including the July 4 holiday, highway fatalities were down more than 17 percent. Injuries dropped an estimated 10 percent. Traffic volume remained at 1966 levels.

What accounted for the improvement? Auto Club General Manager Fred Rehm attributes a major share of decrease to better driving habits of the state's 4 1/2 million motorists. "Michigan motorists are getting the message," the vast majority of good drivers appear to be using that extra bit of carefulness and alertness to safety that is all they need to get them home safely. And more of the bad ones who've shown by their past records they are unfit to drive seem to be off the roads... on the holidays at least," Rehm said.

Michigan's July 4th death rate was down 18 percent from last year. Among the seven largest states in terms of vehicle registration, Michigan listed 30 deaths, up 7 percent over last year. This in comparison to Texas which recorded 71 deaths, up 73 percent from 1966.

Much room for improvement remained, the study notes. Ninety-one percent of all highway accidents which occurred in Michigan during the July 4th weekend involved "driver error." The four top "errors" were excessive speed, loss of vehicle control, right-of-way violations and drunk driving. Drivers with unsatisfactory driving records again contributed heavily to fatal accidents: Nine of the 28 known Michigan drivers involved in traffic deaths had more than the so-called average life-time record of four points.

Crime Increases

Annual report of crime in the United States, released by the FBI, shows another significant increase in crimes of all types. Currently the increase in crime outstrips population growth by almost seven-to-one.

In Michigan, a total of 182,045 crimes were committed in 1966. Burglary accounted for 78,353; larceny for 47,552; auto theft, 29,272; robbery, 13,061; aggravated assault, 11,411 and forcible rape, 1,998. Murder and non-negligent manslaughter totaled 393.

Michigan's Highland Park led the nation in total crimes committed in cities from 25,000 to 50,000 population. A total of 2,848 crimes were reported there in 1966. Lowest in the nation in that population category was South Euclid, Ohio, with only 67 crimes.

Female Restrictions

The 10-hour day, 54-hour week limitations for women employees will be lifted Nov. 2. The 1909 statute which set the labor ceilings for females was repealed this year when the legislature decided the law had become outmoded by other statutes, particularly by the Federal Equal

Opportunity Law

Scheduling of hours should be easier for employers with women on the payroll, but other statutes still protect females from working under conditions which the State Labor Department may consider injurious.

The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce backed the move to scrap the 1909 law. The chamber represents hosts of employers of women throughout the state. "Progress has to be made," said William A. Wickham, legislative counsel for the chamber.

Elderly Housing

Senior citizen housing in Michigan is on an upswing, reports the Michigan Commission on Aging. In 1964 only 22 communities had completed or were developing low-rent housing projects designed for the elderly. These totaled 163 completed units in five communities.

By June of this year, 62 Michigan communities were involved in building and planning 7,898 units. Eighteen communities now have 1,152 units in operation.

A growing problem has been the shortage of trained personnel to manage housing projects. This is partially solved by new training programs instituted at Wayne State University and U-M.

There is still much to be done if Michigan is to reach its goal of 100,000 units for elderly housing by 1974, the commission noted.

Public Hearing On Water Quality Standards

The first public hearing in Michigan's program of establishing water quality standards for the lakes and watercourses within the state will be held in the Poplars Room at the Inn America, East Lansing, on September 27. It was announced today by Loring F. Oeming, executive secretary of the State Water Resources Commission.

This hearing will be concerned with setting up standards necessary for the protection of various water uses, Oeming said. Subsequent public hearings will deal with the designation of the uses to be protected in specific sectors of lakes and streams throughout the state.

The proposed standards basically are those adopted by the Commission in June for application to waters which Michigan shares with other states, but with certain additional requirements proposed for inland lakes. The objective of the standards is to preserve and protect most inland waters for a variety of uses including total body contact recreation activities and sport fishing.

At the September hearing the Commission will accept written or oral statements regarding the standards from all interested persons. Copies of the proposed water quality standards for inland (inland) waters are available upon request from the Water Resources Commission office in Lansing.

Enter Mousetrap Nation

Every era has its own cliches, customs and prejudices. Currently, and for some time, it has been hard to herd people of different beliefs into two groups. One might be called "againers" — in other words, those who are supposed to be against everything. Then there are those who are classed as "assessives" or liberals, because they make a fetish of being against what they like to call the status quo.

What seems to be overlooked by nearly everyone is that in a free country there is no such thing as a status quo. Our ways of living, our ways of doing things and the machinery of our industrialized society changes with amazing rapidity. All you have to do is look at a few old pictures to shatter the illusion of status quo.

One of the most amusing and dramatic instances of this was a series of pictures issued by the nation's largest common carrier of packages, REA Express. One picture showed "pickup & delivery" in Syracuse, New York, around 1844 — a wheelbarrow and two carpetbags. Then came the horse-drawn wagon, the horseless carriage and finally at the end of the series of pictures, a modern truck appears alongside a modern jet to illustrate how REA Express conducts its worldwide operations in 1967.

As exemplified by express, there is no such thing as a "status quo" so long as individuals are inspired by the age-old incentive to build a better mousetrap — at a profit.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEAR AGO

September 14, 1967

Peter Lovely has retired from the restaurant business after spending most of his adult life-time serving fine meals. His restaurant, known as the "Green Front Restaurant," was sold the first of the week to Mr. and Mrs. Al Carrievau, of Detroit, the new owners taking possession Monday. In the early lumbering days around Grayling, Pete and his brother Paul were famous as lumber camp cooks. As such, their fame spread over the North Woods area. Later, for a number of years Peter conducted the civilian mess hall at Lake Margrethe. In 1932 he opened a restaurant in the building next to the Alfred Hanson service station, which he has conducted almost continually since. Pete has been enterprising and always a good citizen. He and Mrs. Lovely have raised a splendid family, one that is a credit to them. Now that Mr. Lovely has retired we trust that he will enjoy the leisure that he so well merits. His successors are stepping into a well established business. They are experienced in the restaurant business. We welcome them and wish them the best of success.

Mrs. Floyd SanCarter and children have returned home after a three-weeks visit at Sanilac, Mich.

Miss Wilma Feldhauser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Feldhauser, is attending the Bay City Business College in Bay City.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter LaMotte are the parents of a boy, born September 6, weighing 8 pounds 6 ounces. He has been named Tommy Lee.

Numerous parties have been given at Lake Margrethe for those who are returning home after spending the summer here. Mrs. Stanley Flower entertained a group last Wednesday afternoon at her home. Mrs. Elmer Birdsall had the same group on Friday and Mrs. Leo Koerper was hostess at a party yesterday.

Mrs. Rasmus Hanson observed her 99th birthday last Thursday in a quiet manner, surrounded by her family. In the afternoon, in accordance with an old Danish custom, friends and neighbors called to wish her a happy birthday. Mrs. Hanson received them all most graciously and seemed keen to visit with them all. One outstanding quality of this fine lady is her interest in "the folks" — in their families, in what they are doing. She takes interest and pride in her household affairs, keeping in touch with daily happenings. Charities also receive her personal attention, which completes a really full life for one of her years. It is the wish of this community that as Mrs. Hanson enters the centenary year of her life, she may continue to enjoy her usual good health and happiness. May she be privileged to see lasting peace restored to her native land (Denmark), and to America, the country of her adoption. The Avalanche joins with her many friends in extending felicitations.

YOUR EDITOR IS RETIRING — YES, that's it. Not because of having a lot of dough, but rather because there is an inevitable time when every man must lay aside his laboring tools. Rather than wait until old ages forces us to quit, we decided that now, after 33 years as editor of the Avalanche, we had earned a rest. Of course, we must have something to "do," also something to live on, so with our well established insurance, real estate brokerage and office supply business, we feel that we will have plenty to keep us out of mischief. While we have had a good many offers of purchase, we were particular as to whom would be our successor. We hoped he would be a man who would fit into our community, and who would have pride in giving Grayling a good newspaper. While we don't feel that we have to apologize, still a change may be a good thing for Grayling. The lucky man to become your editor is Robert W.

Strong, now managing editor of the Greenville Daily News. We ask our readers to please accept this as only a brief announcement, with a promise of further details to come later. The change is scheduled to take effect October 2.

Fred Welsh has purchased the sawmill that has been in operation with the Kerry & Hanson Flooring Co. plant and is moving it to Marquette. Conditions for its "continued" operation here were not favorable. Mr. Welsh will operate the plant at Marquette for custom sawing. Leo Gannon, formerly of Grayling will be the manager.

Mrs. Russell Robertson is visiting her husband's mother, Mrs. Peter Robertson, for two weeks. She recently returned from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., where she was a public health nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Gothro are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a daughter, Karen Jean born last Thursday at Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Elmer Haire accompanied her granddaughter, Bonnie Jean Haire, as far as Chicago, Sunday Bonnie Jean will enter Girl's School at Beaver Dam, Wis.

Mrs. Tressa Stephan left last Thursday to visit her husband Norval Stephan, F. 2-C, who is stationed at St. Louis, Mo. She expects to remain until after his graduation from Naval Electrical School on Sept. 25.

Mrs. Paul Feldhauser and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Feldhauser, left last Thursday to visit Corporal Herbert Feldhauser who is stationed at Lincoln Army Air Field, Lincoln, Nebraska. Gpl. Feldhauser was just recently discharged from the hospital there, where he had been a patient since July 2, recovering from a surgical operation.

Mrs. Louis E. Hart of Kenilworth, Ill., and son, Edward Hartwick, of Detroit were guests of Mrs. A.E. Michelson last Wednesday and Thursday, at Lake Margrethe. They also visited Mrs. Rasmus Hanson on her 99th birthday. Nels Michelson, father of Mrs. Hart, and the late Rasmus Hanson were partners in the lumber business. N.P. Salling was the third member of the firm.

Mrs. Wilfred Laurant enjoyed a short visit Monday from Mrs. Winifred Johnson-Englerth and her daughter, Mary Linda, of Grand Rapids, who were enroute from St. Ignace, where she had been staying for some time because of her hay fever. Mrs. Englerth was employed as typewriter at the Avalanche office some 25 years ago, and she and Mrs. Laurant have kept in touch with each other through correspondence ever since.

Mrs. Augusta Allen returned Tuesday morning from Keego Harbor, Mich., where she had spent a week visiting her son Sam Smith, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Smith had been visiting here and she returned with them.

THE TIMBERLAND CHORDSMEN were organized in 1963. Their membership is comprised of men from the entire Saginaw Valley, only recently having merged with a newly formed chorus in Bay City. (This will be their first engagement since the merger.) This group is a very popular entertaining group in their area, performing at many functions. They placed very high in their recent chorus competition. They are directed by Robert Glover.

"Come to the Mardi Gras"

The Roscommon Chapter of Sweet Adelines are presenting their 6th bi-annual show "Mardi Gras Masquerade" on Saturday night, September 16th at 8:00 p.m. at the Roscommon High School. This chorus recently won the coveted Mardi Gras trophy at chorus competition in Lansing. They also boast a registered quartet, The Pipeliners (Mildred Bojars, Shirley Edwards, June Haines, and Roberta Rhoads) who will be giving off with some good old barbershop harmony. Featured on the show will be the well-known musical group from Houghton Lake, The Grenadiers. Their merry music will set many toes a tappin'. Headlining the show, from Saginaw are the Timberland Chordsmen, The Ever-sharps, and the Beantown Four. This chorus and quartets are all active members of SPEBSQSA (the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber-shop Quartet singing in America). These groups have placed very high in recent competitions and are sure to give home rousing entertainment. Bring the whole family and come down to "New Orleans" with the bands, parades, and masquerade ball to fill your evening with delightful music. See you at the "Mardi Gras Masquerade" Sept. 16!!!

BITS O' TALK

Harold and Glenn Jewkes have returned from a seven-day canoe trip in the quiet country of Canada. Forty-one people were on the trip. The majority were young people from high school, college and university. Canoes were taken from Camp AuSable by trailer to Winton just three miles north of Ely, Minnesota where the group met for the canoe trip. All provisions had to be taken along. The route took them over lakes, rivers, beaver dams, and portages. Camping was primitive and bears visited the camps twice during the expedition. The weather was perfect, water could be taken from any lake or stream for drinking, wild life was undisturbed and enjoyed by all.

Grayling to help resort owners with ideas in promotion and sales for their individual businesses.

Promoting the area, telling people that this is the area where they should spend their vacations, is the business of everyone in the community, but this is the area where the Chamber of Commerce can do the most good. It can do promotion collectively for an area which is impossible to be done by each individual businessman.

To my way of thinking capital improvements in a community, which are of benefit to everyone directly or indirectly, should become the job of local government. Such improvements may well be inspired by the chamber.

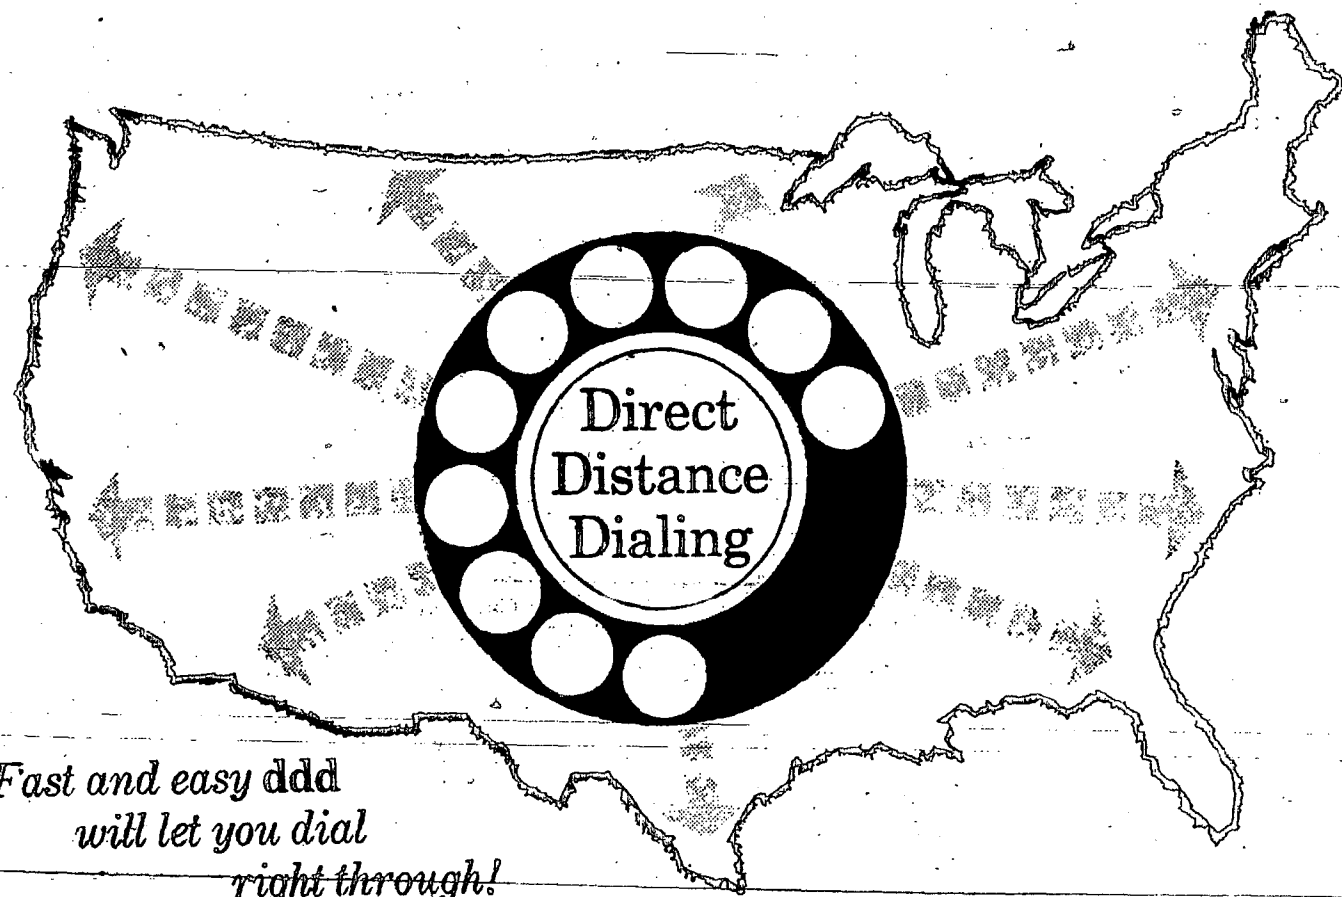

The Chamber of Commerce in any community is an important part of the community, deserves and needs membership support.

GRAYLING
ties into the nation with Direct Distance Dialing

Imagine do-it-yourself dialing on long distance calls. It's the modern, convenient way of reaching people fast in faraway cities. And it's so much fun to use.

ddd lets you directly dial millions of phones throughout the U. S. at the same low long distance rates you've paid in the past.

For you, ddd is only days away. Eventually, all cities and towns will have it. When that day arrives, you'll be able to dial directly to almost any telephone in the whole country.

ddd is simple as ABC

Here's all you do to dial right through:

- Dial 1-2-0 (this connects you to long distance).
- Dial the code number of the city you're calling. (You'll find it on pages 8-10 of your phone directory).
- Then dial the phone number of the person you wish to reach — just as though you were making an ordinary local call.

To save time and trouble, list the long distance numbers you most frequently call in the back of your telephone directory.

All ladies may not agree, but the gal with an outdoor husband is indeed fortunate. Her man is truly different!

Take those holidays and weekends for instance. Hubby always hops out of bed long before dawn to make preparations for the day. (Whoever heard of going fishing or hunting at any other time of day?) This thoughtful husband will insist his wife stay in bed—that getting his own breakfast is really nothing.

Barely has she snuggled back under the covers, though, when he comes and hoarsely whispers, "Where did you put the coffee pot?" Or, "Did you see my Thermos bottle?"

By the time she gets up and locates these elusive items, the wife usually decides it will be the lesser of two evils to stay up and fix breakfast and get him out of the house.

New brides, of course, sometimes have difficulty becoming adjusted to this brand of thoughtfulness for her which prompts him to sally forth in quest of fish or game.

band feels bound to bring something home from his trip afield, no matter how insignificant it might seem to an outsider. It may be only a four-ounce bluegill or a slightly bedraggled duck but as he bears his trophy proudly home, he proclaims his favorite hobby is slicing the meat budget to the bone!

There were, of course, a few slight expenses, such as the 200-mile drive and gas and oil expended; a new reel or the three boxes of shotgun shells; and the T-bone steak with the boys. (How did he know he would get stuck with the whole check?)

Yes, the gal with a real outdoor husband probably doesn't realize what a lucky person she is!

But they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength.—(Isa. 40:31)

We should never let ourselves be limited by the thought of age—either that we are too young or too old. We need to deny this thought of age and not let it have any power over us. Some persons think in terms of age. They are always thinking of how old they are or of how old someone else is. Sometimes they preface almost every remark with the phrase at my age.

Chamber of Commerce Minutes

Regular Meeting Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce, August 24, 1967

Meeting called to order by President Bill Kraus at 12:15 p.m. Members present: Gerry Burns, Bill Kraus, John Latuszek, Sal Truettner, and Don Welser. Members absent: Ray Elsey, Billie Forbes, Ed Rutkowski, and Sandy Thompson.

Motion by John Latuszek, seconded by Sal Truettner, that the minutes of the last regular meeting be approved as printed.

Correspondence: A letter from Howard LaBrant of the American Canoe Association was read to the Board by President Kraus. LaBrant felt the inclusion of an Amateur Division in this year's race was an improvement and he also favors the two day race. He wished to compliment Ron Frosh on the great job he did of running the races.

There was no Treasurer's report in the absence of Treasurer Billie Forbes.

Sal Truettner reported that arrangements have been made to hold the annual Dinner Meeting at the Chief Shoppengans Motor Hotel on Thursday evening, September 21. The Chamber office was instructed to mail tickets to members and print programs as they have done in past years.

It was decided to hold the Annual Business Meeting on Thursday, September 14, at 8:00 p.m.

in the Chamber office.

President Kraus asked the Board if the Chamber wished to advertise in E.M.T.A.'s Ski Guide for 1967-68. After discussion, it was decided to reserve a full page. Don Welser volunteered to solicit donations from restaurants and motels that are Chamber members, so their names and phone numbers will continue to appear in the ad.

It was decided to hold the "Carnival of Color" the weekend of October 6, 7, and 8. Don Welser agreed to chairman this activity. Manager Longworth was authorized to order street banners and to set up a meeting with a committee of retail merchants.

New Member: The application of Wayside Inn for membership in the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce was presented to the Board. Motion by Gerry Burns, seconded by Sal Truettner, that this application be accepted. All Ayes.

Motion by John Latuszek, seconded by Gerry Burns, that Manager Longworth be given permission to have 500 copies of his suggested "welcome to tourist and questionnaire letter" printed.

Motion by Gerry Burns, seconded by Sal Truettner, that this meeting be adjourned at 1:40 p.m.

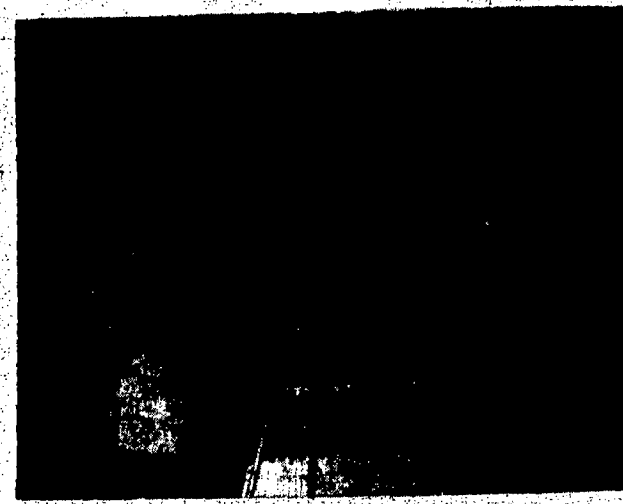

Next meeting to be held 14 September 1967.

Introducing The American Beer With a German Accent

It's not every day that the word "Introducing" can be used in the beer business—in fact, you can count the significant changes in the history of beer on the fingers of one hand.

Today, however, is the day for Drewrys.

It all started a few months ago when we heard some astounding news from Germany that more than 100 brewmasters over there were changing to a way of brewing called "Durch-fliesen"; a new technique that incredibly makes German beer taste even better than before.

We reasoned that if "Durch-fliesen" could make their beer taste even better, it could make our beer taste even better. So we brought it home and put it to work on Drewrys. Sure enough, it does make our beer taste better than ever before.

From now on Drewrys will be brewed the "Durch-fliesen" way, which gives you a traditionally light American beer, plus a little something German in the taste department.

PHONE DIRECTORY NOW IN MAIL

The newest edition of the world's most frequently used books—the telephone directory—is now being delivered to General Telephone customers in Grayling. A. Murphy, district manager for the company, announced today.

Customer information in the new directory has been categorized by subject—local, long distance, and general information. "Emergency listings, too, are included," Murphy added. "We want these numbers to be especially easy to find when they are needed."

"Since our emergency listings include each community in the directory, a special section has been designed for the customer to list the telephone numbers of the sheriff, police, and fire departments which serve his community," Murphy said.

The list for frequently called numbers again appears on the inside back cover.

A localized exchange area map printed in conjunction with the continental U.S. Area Code map first introduced last year, appears again in the new directory.

"Leaf through your old directory carefully before replacing it with the new edition," Murphy cautioned. "Many times important papers, letters or even money are placed in the telephone directory for safe keeping and forgotten."

Remember, also, to transfer your written list of frequently called numbers from the old directory to the new one," he said.

Well-Designed Accessories Add To A Home

What makes your car stand out from hundreds of others in a parking lot?

It's the same thing that makes your house different from similar structures—it looks like it belongs to you.

One way to bring individuality to a home is through selection and use of accessories. Accessories soften the non-personal atmosphere of a structure and give it warmth and a lived-in feeling.

Besides the psychological benefits of beauty and personal association, accessories also provide ease and convenience. The same piece can do both.

Lasting appeal of accessories depends on good design, not sentimental attachment. Good design combines beauty of materials with excellent workmanship.

In choosing accessories avoid the commonplace and unimaginative.

Don't be afraid to be different; we all are, in some ways. But the fear of being different or strange, drives people to seek security in what is ordinary. The commonplace is always safely inconspicuous.

Since your personality and life are not exactly like anyone else's select items that carry out the mood you want to create in your home. Any homemaker can learn to recognize well-designed accessories that suit her home.

But don't let the term "design" throw you—it simply describes the total appearance of anything... what it looks like, how it is put together. Good designs have a purpose and direction, show thought and organization. Everything that is needed is there in its place and not a single "extra" has been added. Poor design lacks completeness—something is missing, or something is out of place. Or sometimes there's just too much of a good thing.

"Kinds" of design can be defined as structural or decorative. A good structural design has pleasing lines. Usually one kind of line, either straight or curved, dominates so the eye can follow the form in uninterrupted, rhythmic motion.

Good proportion is an inherent part of a good design; one part of the object doesn't seem too large or small in relation to the other parts.

And the form should be suited to the material used to make the piece. Plastic shouldn't try to look like china or wood. The design should make the most of the characteristic qualities of plastic. In addition, the design should let the object do what it is supposed to do. A pitcher should have a spout that will pour without dripping, and a coffee cup should have a handle that isn't awkward to hold on to.

Decorative design should follow structural lines. And decoration shouldn't interfere with the function of the piece. As a poor example, a vase with lots of ceramic roses stuck on, which would draw a viewer's attention away from the real flowers. Over decoration is often done to cover up poor workmanship.

Stirling-Cole Wed in North Carolina, September 2

Miss Deborah Jane Stirling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bruce Stirling of Tryon, North Carolina, and Robert Leake Steele Cole, Jr. of Columbia, South Carolina, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leake Steele Cole, Sr. of Statesville, North Carolina, were married Saturday the 2nd of September, 1967 at the Tryon Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed at four-thirty by the Rev. W. B. Brooks of Westminster Presbyterian Church of Spartanburg, South Carolina.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of textured pique with waist-to-floor French panel accented by a lace and pique inset threaded with radiant blue velvet ending in a bow. The panel fell from a lace-and ribbon banded empire bodice with scoop neckline and long sleeves cuffed in lace and ribbon. The skirt was A-line. A cascade of miniature roses with touches of blue held the bride's veil, and she carried a nosegay of the same flowers.

Mrs. Richard B. B. Street of Honolulu, Hawaii, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mary Carolyn Wolf of Augusta, Georgia, was maid of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were the Misses Janne Litzelman of Red Bank, N.J. and Mary Agnes Cole of Statesville, N.C. All were costumed alike in radiant blue chiffon over crepe, falling from a ring collar to a flowing cage hem-line banded in crepe. Their flowers were multi-colored nosegays.

Charles Stuart Cole of Statesville served his brother as best man. Seating the guests were John B. Cole, another brother, Richard B.B. Street of Honolulu, brother-in-law of the bride, and Stuart Gregg, Long Beach, California, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held at five o'clock at the Mimosa Inn. Out of town guests included grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Neil D. Stirling of Saginaw, and Mrs. Fred R. Welsh of Grayling, and Mrs. Welsh's other daughters, Mrs. Welsh Davenport of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Donald E. Koepfgen of Cass City, also Mr. and Mrs. E.S. Gregg, Jr. of Ridgefield, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Alexander James Stirling, Master James Neil Stirling, Mr. and Mrs. George Higbie, all of Oxford, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole will be at home at 820 Henderson St., Columbia, South Carolina, following a honeymoon trip to Charleston, S.C.
